Hyaluronic Acid in the Body

Healthy Joints and Cushioning

HA is to our joints what motor oil is to a car's engine: it provides lubrication to keep the parts running smoothly without grinding against each other. Similarly, as we age, the viscosity of synovial joint fluid lessens. Maintaining healthy levels of HA in our joints is one way to ensure healthy joints and cushioning as we age.

Healthy Skin

In addition to our body producing less water-loving HA as we age, over time, free radicals, produced mostly through exposure to pollutants and sunlight, destroy the HA in the skin. Without enough HA in the skin, the skin loses its ability to hold water leaving a drier, thinner and wrinkled appearance.

About Hyaluronic Acid

Hyaluronic Acid (HA), also known as hyaluronan or hyaluronate, is a carbohydrate, more specifically a mucopolysaccharide, occurring naturally throughout the human body. It can be several thousands of sugars (carbohydrates) long. When not bound to other molecules, it binds to water giving it a stiff, viscous quality similar to “Jello”. This viscous gel is one of the most heavily researched substances in medicine today with thousands of trials, mostly in the fields of orthopedics and eye surgery. Its function in the body is, amongst other things, to bind water and to lubricate movable parts of the body, such as joints and muscles. Its consistency and tissue-friendliness allow it to be beneficial in skin care products as an excellent moisturizer. Because HA is one of the most hydrophilic (water-loving) molecules in nature, it can be described as “nature’s moisturizer”.

DID YOU KNOW?

As you grow older, your body supplies less and less HA which is possibly the most important component in keeping you young.

Around age 50, it's estimated that we can have as little as half the amount of HA in our skin that we did in our 20's. Put simply, without enough HA, we look and feel old.

HA and the Lips

The dermal layer of the lips is composed primarily of connective tissue (made up of HA and collagen), which gives the lips structure (shape) and plumpness. The HA binds to water creating a gelatinous fluid that hydrates the surrounding tissue and keeps the collagen (the rubber bands responsible for keeping the skin tight) nourished and healthy.

HA and the Scalp

The dermis is where the hair follicle is located. The dermal layer is composed of connective tissue and is rich with HA. It nourishes and hydrates, as well as supports the deep layers of the scalp. The result is healthy, lustrous hair and a moisturized scalp.

HA and Eyesight

The very substance that nourishes the collagen in our skin and provides the cushion in our joints, also makes up a large percentage of our eyes' vitreous humor gel fluid. We need an abundance of HA for healthy eye function.

What Sets Us Apart

HIGH MOLECULAR WEIGHT

We focus on High Molecular Weight Hyaluronic Acid, the size of the molecule that is predominantly found naturally in your body. According to science, it is known for its ability to hydrate, lubricate, and may even play an important role in promoting a healthy metabolic process. Your body will break down this high molecular molecule, approximately one third of its total every day, into lower molecular weight before it is removed from the body. In fact, the latest science indicates Low Molecular Weight Hyaluronic Acid may not be as beneficial for your body.

HYALOCK™

Hyalogic® products go through our extensive 5-step Hyalock™ process to ensure a high quality product:

- 1 Using Non-Animal Derived, Vegan Friendly Hyaluronic Acid
- 2 Ingredient Compatibility Testing
- 3 Preservative Compatibility Testing
- 4 Product Quality Control Testing
- 5 Finished Product Analysis

PUT A LOCK ON QUALITY

Make the Right Choice

When shopping for Hyaluronic Acid, either as a dietary supplement or a topical, be sure to choose animal-free, High Molecular Weight HA. Natural fermentation is the most common non-animal source of Hyaluronic Acid. It's non-GMO and vegan friendly.

Supplements

Our HA supplement line offers whole-body solutions. Whether you need support for your joints, bones, skin, eyes, or hair, we've got you covered.

Skin Care

It has been determined that up to 50% of the HA in our bodies is concentrated in the skin. Our skin care products will help you replenish and rejuvenate your skin.

How Do You Use It?

Hyaluronic Acid occurs naturally in your skin, but diminishes as you age. Humectants like Hyaluronic Acid serum typically have a watery texture and absorb quickly.

Emollients, like creams and oils, are thicker and are absorbed less quickly, but work to “lock everything in.” Because of its ability to bind up to 1,000 times its weight in water, Hyaluronic Acid delivers outstanding hydration to your skin. This is one of the ways Hyaluronic Acid functions as the greatest moisturizing ingredient ever.

What's Best For Your Skin?

With multiple Hyaluronic Acid skincare products to choose from, it can be a bit daunting to determine what's best for YOUR unique skincare concerns. In order to take full advantage of the replenishing and hydrating power our Hyaluronic Acid products provide, it's important to use them correctly and in the right order.

Hyaluronic Acid for Pets

Hyaluronic Acid (HA) is found naturally in almost every cell in the body, and occurs in high concentrations in specific body locations. As a your pet ages, it can produce less HA and it can become more and more difficult to replace the lost HA. The thickness of their joint cushioning can break down, become thin, and is often unable to cushion the joint cartilage. HA products will help pick up where their body does not.

Equine Care

Horses are heavy! Equine joints can deteriorate quickly. An oral Hyaluronic Acid joint supplement may help joints and cartilage bounce back!

Healthy Joint Mobility

Hyaluronic Acid is naturally produced by the body as a part of the fluid that lubricates the cartilage between the joints.

Joints are surrounded by a synovial membrane, which forms a capsule around the ends of two articulating bones, and Hyaluronic Acid is a major component of the synovial fluid that lubricates this joint capsule and provides cushion.

Hyaluronic Acid is to joints as motor oil is to a car's engine: it provides lubrication to keep the parts running smoothly without grinding against each other. Similarly, with age, the viscosity of synovial joint fluid lessens. We need to maintain healthy levels of HA in the body, just as we might top off our car's oil reservoir.

As a horse ages, it can produce less HA and it can become more and more difficult to replace the lost HA. HA products will help pick up where the horse's body does not.

Hyaluronic Acid supports a horse's whole body. From their skin and eyes, to muscles, joints, ligaments and tendons. My horses receive daily support from Hyalogic Hyalun® PRO. I'm not going to wait until their joints are in trouble to replenish the HA that is used up with every step my horses take.

About Hyalogic®

Hyalogic was launched with our first product, Synthovial SEVEN®, a premium oral Hyaluronic Acid (HA) product for overall joint health. The success of this product in the human joint health market has been phenomenal, and has helped establish us as one of the pioneers and leaders in the field of HA nutritional supplements.

Hyaluronic Acid is a polysaccharide that is ubiquitous in mammalian tissue, is found to be crucial for many cellular and body functions, and has been used in the clinical setting for decades. It is such a versatile molecule that has tremendous benefits to so many parts of the body that we have made it our responsibility to introduce other helpful products with HA into the market. Today we have over 50 HA-based supplements and personal care products launched or in development for the benefit of humans, horses, dogs and cats.

We are headquartered in Riverside, MO, USA and have an extensive network of distributors and dealers located throughout the United States and internationally.

We partner with several healthcare professionals across the country to conduct cutting edge research on the other uses of HA and its benefits to the body.

Hyalogic thrives because of our unique products and superior customer service. We also believe in educating the public about the benefits of healthy living and the value of using quality products where we have incorporated this wonderful, water-loving molecule called HA.

We conduct training seminars in stores and even by phone and have produced useful literature to promote health and general well being.
